Pages Where There is Work To Do

Otherwise known as “work-in-progress”

A number of pages that I create are the result of answering a question, or doing some level of work on something as a result of a situation. I capture these as pages in this Wiki irrespective of whether it is complete or not mainly so I can come back and fix it up at a later date. You will sometimes see things here that are a little too specific to a situation, or a set of words that don't quite seem logical (since I am working through the thinking on the page).
